THE PROSPECTS OF RACING

THE TURF IS DEAD IN NEW-JERSEY.

INFLUENCES WHICH HAVE BROUGHT RACING IN

ter, the managers at those places did not allow turf-writers to be assaulted and did not rule them of the turf. The managers did their best to prevent adverse criticism, as the public expected that the racing over their tracks to be assaulted and did not rule them off the turf. The managers did their best to prevent adverse criticism, os the public expected that the racing over their tracks would be far below the standard of the Beard of Control tracks. When, however, it was found that racing under the auspices of the Board of Control was often conducted chiefly for the benefit of track-owners and a select coterio of high-rolling gamblers, so that owners who did not bet and trainers who were true to their employers' interests complained of the unjust manner in which they were treated, the conclusion was reached that B arl o' Con-trol racing was at a low cold with little chance for its reformation under the management of the men at the head of affairs, and that the entire structure was unsound. Under the system in voque racing in New-Jersey was demoralizing in its tendencies, as it attracted on every racing day hundreds and often theusands of disreputable persons to New-Jersey. When the respectable element of the citizens of that State realized the evil effects of reeing conducted by money-grabbing track-owners, who did not care how low or degraded their patrons were so leng as they put money in the roffers of the managers, they arose as one man and effectually wiped out racing in New-Jersey 1007 and branch. It is not likely that racing will be revived in New-Jersey for years. G. Walbaum, no matter what may be said about him personally foresaw the result in New-Jersev and secured the Saratoga foresaw the result in New-Jersev and secured the Saratoga track. He delivered full control of all that pertains to meing at Saratoga into the hands of men who have no affiliations with the bettine ring. He bough out his political partners, and cave lively racing to the patrons

The concy Island Jockey Club would not countenance the methods of the Board of Control, and refused to be hampered by the decisions of the board. The club withdrew as an association, and J. G. K. Lawrence, president of the club, retired as a member of the Board of Control. This action of the club received the approbation of honest and public-spirited supporters of the turf, and in order to show their approval of the action of the club, thousands of the better classes attended the races at the fall meéting. There was a lot of talk of reorganization, but some influential turimen who were asked to become members of the Board of Control did not care for the associations. that would be forced upon them if they accepted places in that body. The success of the fall meeting of the Coney Island Jockey Club set the leading turfmen to thinking as to the outcome of Board of Control racing under the management of the men at the head of that organization. It did not take them long to form their opinion, and the Board of Control at the end of the legitimate racing season was composed chiefly of the distinguished remains of perificial fossils.

The Concy Island Jockey Club by its prompt action placed itself at the head of the racing interests of the country. The club is in a position to dictate to the other associations. The policy which the friends of high-class association.

The property of the club pursue is to race three days each week during June, July and August, and to have racing on ten Saturdays in the course of the summer. The other associations might bluster and threaten, but the public is with the Concy Island Club. and is sure to crowd the grandstand and lawn, no matter who might race in opposition to the club. Lost confidence is hard to regain. If the members of the Board of Control doubt the statement, they are respectfully referred to the case of Isaac II. Maynard, Mayor Boody or David

To save racing the Maynards, Boodys, Sheehans, McKanes, Hills and McLaughlins of the turf must be McKanes, Hills and McLaughilns of the turf must be sent to the rear, and men in whom the public has simplicit confidence must be placed in charge of affairs. The men who were in the stewards' box at the Concy Island Jockey Club, and were officials stewards at the autumn meeting were J. G. K. Lawrence, John H. Brafford, Colonel Lawrence Kip, James R. Keene, John G. Hecksher and F. Gray Griswold. At some of the other tracks' bookmakers and gamblers were seen in the stewards' stand. The public is quick to discern where its interests lie, and is sure to uphold good, honest sport, fairly conducted under the supervision of men whom the fig. interests he, and is sure to uphod good, hences sport, fairly conducted under the supervision of men whom the public trusts unreservedly. The Coney Island Jeckes Club should act promptly, as it is entirely independent and has no entengling alliances with any other racing

RESULTS AT CLIFTON.

RESULTS AT CLIFTON.

The weather was perfect for meing at Clifton resterday and a large crowd visited the New-Jersey track. The novelty of the four-mile race was a great attraction and there was much speculation on the result. There was great dissatisfaction over the decision of the pages in the second race, and their verdict was remity hissed. The first race resulted in a deathent between Darkness and Ball-Majon. The race was run off and won by Darkness in 1.32. Here are the results:

First ryso-Selling: seven furiongs. Darkness, 8 to 5 and 3 to 6. East; Ballergan, 7 to 1 and 5 to 2, second. Tirefly, third. Airplant, Dalsyrian, Khaftan, Bice Wied, Pienty, Heads or Talls and Remorse also ran. Time-1:29. Resulted in a dead heat, which was run off.

Second race—Special weights; for two-year-olds; five triongs. Factorum, 6 to 5 and 1 to 2, first; 87 Knight, 8 to 5 and 1 to 2, second; Yucatan, third. Dauntless, ADRIAN VAN SINDEREN MAY BE EXTRADITED. Assistant District-Attorney Lindsay, who was in Washington on Friday trying to secure the extradition of Adrian Van Sinderen, went to Columbus, Ohio, from there. He appeared before Governor McKinley yesterday to argue in favor of the surrender to the New-York authorities of a fugitive who is wanted here for trial. Just what success who is wanted here for trial. Just what success Mr. Lindsay had in Washington could not be learned here yeaterday.

Van Sinderen, who is indicted for misappropriating 55,000 of trust funds of the William Lawrence estate, has been traced to Berlin. His case does not come under the extradition treaty with Germany, but there is a possibility that he will be surrendered as an act of comity.

Deputy United States Marshal Bernhard, who is the detective here for all the European Governments, called on District-Attorney Nicoli yesterday about the Van Sinderen case.

TRANSATLANTIC TRAVELLERS

Among the passengers on the Cunard steamship Lucania. which sailed for Liverpool early yesterlay morning, were Mrs. William Astor, Captain and Mrs. W. L. Candie, Captain L. Grews, Colonel C. Waiker and Dr. A. Zooyef. On La Gascogne, bound or Havre, were Chauncey M. Depew, who goes for a short vacation: Colonel Bristol, General Dionisio Cerqueira, Climaco Calderon, Colombian Consul-General; H. S. Kearney, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Chanler, Marquis de Chaeseloup-Loubat, Count de Chaeselong-Loubat, Lieutenant G. On the North German Lloyd steamship Trave were Count Zeppelin, Edwin S. Wallace, United States Consul at Jerusalem and Milton Lowey. On La Touraine, which arrived here yesterday from Havre, were Mr. and Mrs. F. Hopkinson Smith.

SMALLPOX ON THE RUGIA Among the steerage passengers on the Hamburg-American steamship Rugia, which arrived here yesterday from Hamburg, was a young man named Modol Obradowich who attracted some attention by wearing an o'd military uniform with much gilt cord and many beass buttons on it. He says that he held high rank in Servia until recently, but does not explain why he has come down in the world. His story is not credited. There was one case of am pox on the Rugia. The patient was one case of small, pox on the Rugia. The patient was sent to Riverside Hospital, and six other steerage pessengers who belonged to his party were sent to Hodman Island. The steamship was then distinfected and allowed to proceed to her dock.
